At that time/ It was time that I was in a hurry. I often have to do a lot of work in one day

In the morning, I have to go to class to study the final subjects. I had to choose a group to study. I chose a group with my best friends. Unfortunately, in this group, we had some students from different classes including 2 younger students and an elderly student. As you know, there are many ages who go to university to study. I think it is hard to communicate and discuss homework with them.

At night I have to practice English at the center and then go home to have dinner and do homework. Unfortunately, the university has increased the level of graduate English. I had to hurry and study a lot to be able to pass the English test at the British Council

In the picture, I can see two people including the mother and a daughter.

They are wearing white casual clothes.

They look so beautiful and cute.

The mother has a flashlight and she is reading a book for her daughter.

The daughter is focused on listening to the stories of the book.

I love this picture because it reminds me of my parents when I was a kid.

2. What sorts of things help you sleep easily?

This is an interesting question. Let me tell you about the sort of things that help me sleep easily. There are many ways.

Firstly, having a calming bedtime. I often read my favorite books or listen to music.

And of course, I stayed away from caffeine, tea and heavy meals.

If I can, I often play some sports such as soccer, badminton or taking a walk in the afternoon. I think it is a good way to unwind and reduce stress, therefore we can go to sleep easily.

3. Why is it important to sleep enough per night?

It is important to sleep enough per night. There are some reasons.

I think when we sleep enough, we can reduce stress, boost our moods and allow us to be comfortable after a working day.

When we sleep, our bodies will repair and recover.

And if we sleep not enough, it reduces our health and we will be very tired the next day.

I often sleep about 8 hours per night to make sure I can do my work as well as possible.

Part 3:

1. Miêu tả 2 tranh

Both pictures show me about the studying

The differences between 2 pictures are:

In the first picture, I can see a lot of students who are listening to their teacher. They are very focused. I guess they are in the classroom at the university.

In the second picture, I can see a group of 4 people including 2 men and 2 women. They are very young. I guess they are freshmen. They are discussing the exercises together. I prefer the first picture because I love studying in the classroom.

2. What are the problems of giving a presentation in these situations?

It is hard to say. But I think giving a presentation in both situations is challenging.

When giving a presentation in a classroom, distractions like noise from other students or technical equipment can be problematic. Students can talk with each other and not focus on hearing your suggestions.

Additionally, maintaining engagement and interest from the audience can be challenging, especially if they're not actively participating.

-In large groups, it may be difficult to ensure everyone's voice is heard and understood, leading to misunderstandings

3. Technology has improved the ability to communicate with other people. What do you think?

Technology has improved the ability to communicate with others. We can easily communicate with people through social apps like zoom, gg meeting. It's really easy to use for both young and older people.

My close group had organized a birthday party for me.

I remembered receiving a thoughtful gift from a colleague at my birthday party. Although it was a small gift but it was unexpected and really made my day special.

When someone I don't know well sends me a gift, I feel pleasantly surprised and grateful. It shows they took the time to think of me, which is always appreciated.

Choosing the perfect gift for someone you don't know well can indeed be challenging. You might not know their preferences or interests, making it hard to select something meaningful. In such cases, it's helpful to consider universal gifts like a nice book or a gourmet food item.

However, one thing I know for sure is that robots can never replace the human minds and brains.

Both pictures show me moving by transport. The differences between 2 pictures are:

In the first picture, I can see many people who are taking buses. They look very hurry with their packages. In the background, I can see many buses which are waiting for passengers.

Simply listening to music will make you reduce stress and learn more effectively.

3. Why are people inclined to learn new things?

I think the reasons why people are inclined to learn new things depends on the person.

Some people like to learn things on their own to meet different people and extend their social network.

Some people feel more comfortable and interesting when they learn something new because they want to broaden their knowledge.

Besides, learning new things will help you develop your career. It's very important in the future, especially for young people.

I think both activities that young children should join. There are some reasons

However, I think that in my country, there are many people who like to take part in dangerous sports.

This is because it is a way to get some excitement into their lives. With a new language, I was trying very hard to learn every time when I had a free time and on the weekend.

My teacher and my friend also helped me a lot. They gave me a lot of advices and books to improve my new language.

With me, I think speaking is the most difficult thing for me. It is so hard to speak to other persons and talk in public. I was very shy when I was in it.

I think it is never too late to learn new things. We can learn and change our future.

For example, when we talk about language, first you should focus your first words and small sentences on the people you plan to talk to. 3. Why do people need to watch the news?

This is an interesting question. Let me tell you about why people need to watch the news. There are many reasons.

The first important reason is that watching news can help them update recent news in the country and all the world.

Many books are available on the Internet without charging fees, which allows people to read free books

Part 4:

Tell me a time when you were in a hurry? How did you feel?

Modern life makes us busier and more rushed. What do you think?

This is a very difficult question because it is hard to remember a time when.... (đè bài)..... But I remember a time when I was a fourth student, I have been a time when.... (đè bài)

It was about 5 years ago...

...It was time that I was in a hurry. I often have to do a lot of work in one day

In the morning, I have to go to class to study the final subjects. combined with practice in the afternoon. At night I have to practice English at the center and then go home to have dinner and do homework. Unfortunately, the university has increased the level of graduate English. I had to hurry and study a lot to be able to pass the English test at the British Council.

Well, I'd like to tell you about the time I was in a hurry. It was 2 months ago. I worked at a company from 8: 30 to 5:30 p.m. Then I came home, cooked rice and had dinner at 6:30 p.m. But I needed to come to my student's house at 7 p.m to teach her some subjects for 9th grade. So, I just had 30 minutes for eating and moving.

I ate and tried on time. At that time, I was so stressed, I even forgot something that needed to be brought, like books. I wished I had more time to do everything carefully and perfectly. Even though I tried faster, I was still 10 minutes late. This was not good and I had to apologize to my student.

Therefore, I believe that modern life makes us more rushed because we have more work that needs to be done.

1. Some people think playing computer games is bad for children. What do you think?

In my opinion, playing games can help me relax and wind down after hard-working days. Moreover, it also helps me to open my mind, improve my imagination and creativity.

But playing GAMES TOO MUCH can cause health problems such as eye problems and obesity.

In summary, whether playing computer games is bad for you or not depends on how much time you spend playing them and how it affects other aspects of your life.

I remember an incident when I was in 10th standard. I helped my needy friend who was my class fellow. His name was Avnet Singh and belonged to a poor family. He didn't have enough money to buy books. And I used to receive a hundred rupees per month pocket money in those days. Usually, I spend that money on chocolates and I love chocolates. On the flip side, I love the experience of cooking. I enjoy the cooking time. It makes me busy and forget all worries and thoughts in work. And the joy of creating something delicious make it a fulfilling activity for me."

PART 4

1. Tell me a time you worked with a younger partner or older people?

2. How did you feel?

3. Do you prefer working with the younger people or older ones?

This is an interesting question, let me tell you about a time I worked with a younger partner or older people.

As I can remember, it was about 5 years ago. I was a 4th years student at university.

In the final subject/lesson, we had a group test. I chose the group, which included my best friend. But there are still some people from different classes. There are 8 people including 2 young ones and 1 older person, Jack, who are about 35 years old. Well, you know, there are many ages to learn at university. It's difficult for us to discuss much about that exam. I really didn't want to work with them.

After that, we completed that exam and the teacher praised us.

I think I prefer working with younger people because they have ability, capability and experience.

I remember a time when I worked on a team project with a younger partner during my college years. It was an interesting experience as we brought different perspectives to the table. My younger colleague was full of enthusiasm and fresh ideas, which injected a sense of energy into the project. However, there were moments when our communication styles and work preferences differed, leading to some challenges in finding common ground.

On another occasion, I collaborated with older colleagues in a professional setting. Their wealth of experience and wisdom greatly influenced our work dynamics. I found their insights invaluable, and their approach to problem-solving was often methodical and well-considered. The communication was more seasoned, and there was a sense of stability and reliability in the team.

As for my preference, it's hard to choose definitively between working with younger or older individuals. Both age groups bring unique qualities to the table. Younger partners infuse projects with energy and innovation, while older colleagues offer experience and stability. I believe a diverse team, comprising individuals of different ages, provides a well-rounded and effective approach to collaboration. It's the combination of various perspectives that often leads to the most successful outcomes.

With me, I think speaking is the most difficult thing for me. It is so hard to speak to other people and talk in public. I was very shy when I was in it.

Therefore, after about 2 years, I had a master's in English, but I still had a lot of mistakes.

There are many reasons why people like going to the beach. Firstly, it is a way to relax and refresh people's minds. Secondly, they can enjoy spectacular landscapes and take many stunning pictures.

Câu 1 ,2.

Let me see, I have received several important news, but now I am going to talk about a time that I received good news that affected my life. It was six years ago, when I just graduated from the university. At that time, I seeked jobs on the Internet and did several interviews but actually I failed. I felt so disappointed. However, one day, when I got up, I saw a new email on my phone. I read that email, oh my god, you know, that was an email saying that I had been recruited. I felt on cloud nine. Finally, I had my first job. Immediately, I sent an acceptance letter for them.

C3: Yes, of course, whenever they receive good news, they always feel happy because all of us want all things to be good. Good news is something that helps us limit our anxiety and encourages us to try harder

Part 3.1. Tell me what you see in the two pictures?

Both pictures show me about activities. the differences between 2 pictures are:

In the first picture, I can see an old man. He is doing some exercises in the gym. I guess he is about 60 to 70 years old. He looks attentive.

In contrast, in the second picture, there are two people walking and climbing the mountain. The weather is nice and sunny. They have a lot of packages on their back. Besides, while the man is exercising indoors, these two people are doing exercise outdoors.

2. What's the difference between two kinds of exercise?

Running in the gym	Walking on the mountain
-Indoor	-outdoor
-Using machine to exercise	-may suffer bad weather
-avoid bad weather	-enjoy and immerse in nature
-have trainer

3. How important is it for people to exercise regularly.?

4. Exercising regularly is important. Firstly, it does wonders for people's health and reduces risks of some diseases like heart attack. Besides, it is also a good way to relax and reduce stress.

TOPIC 26

Part 2:

1. Describe the picture?

This is an interesting picture. Looking at the picture, I can see a young man who is sitting on the seat. He looks so handsome and attentive on the phone. He is taking a coffee cup. I guess it is in the morning. The weather is nice and sunny.

I love this picture because it reminds me of my free time when I often go to a coffee shop and enjoy a coffee cup.

2. Tell me the last time you used your phone to read news?

The last time I used my phone to read the news was this morning during breakfast. I like to catch up on the latest headlines to stay informed about what's happening in the world. And I know how the weather is today. I think people should use their phones or watch TV news more. Nowadays, people are always busy working and don't care about things around them.

3. Is it important to read news every day?

It's beneficial to stay informed by reading the news regularly, but whether it's essential to do so every day depends on personal preferences and priorities.

Part 3:

1. Tell me two pictures?

Both pictures show me spending time on some activities. The differences between 2 pictures are:

In the first picture, I can see a family of about 4 people who are taking a photo together. They have a quality time and they look very happy. They are wearing casual clothes.

In the second picture, I can see an older man who is writing a book. I guess he is about 70 years old. He is sitting on the chair and looks attentive.

2. Do you prefer saving moments by taking photos or writing a diary?

For me, it really depends on the moment and what I want to remember. If I'm at a beautiful scenic spot or attending a special event, I often prefer taking photos. However, when it comes to reflecting on my thoughts and feelings or documenting daily experiences, I find writing in a diary more meaningful. It helps me process my emotions and provides a deeper, more personal record of my life. So, I'd say both methods have their own unique advantages, and I like to use them interchangeably depending on the situation.

3. Is it important for us to save past events?

Saving past events is really important because it allows us to hold onto those precious memories that make life meaningful. Whether it's through photos, journals, or even keepsakes, these mementos help us remember the good times, the challenges we've overcome, and the people who have touched our lives. Plus, they give us something to look back on, offering insights and lessons that can guide us as we move forward. So yeah, preserving past events is like holding onto a piece of our own story, and that's pretty special.

PART 4

- 4. Tell me a time you worked with a younger partner or older people?
- 5. How did you feel?
- 6. Do you prefer working with the younger people or older ones?

I remember a time when I worked on a team project with a younger partner during my college years. It was an interesting experience as we brought different perspectives to the table. My younger colleague was full of enthusiasm and fresh ideas, which injected a sense of energy into the project. However, there were moments when our communication styles and work preferences differed, leading to some challenges in finding common ground.

As for my preference, it's hard to choose definitively between working with younger or older individuals. Both age groups bring unique qualities to the table. Younger partners infuse projects with energy and innovation, while older colleagues offer experience and stability. I believe a diverse team, comprising individuals of different ages, provides a well-rounded and effective approach to collaboration. It's the combination of various perspectives that often leads to the most successful outcomes.

- when we spend time with a group, it is a lot of fun as we can talk to many people, get ideas from them, and learn from them.

2. Has social media changed friendships? Why

Social media and technology have made us a little bit lazier. Maybe people haven't caught up with someone in a long time, and instead of calling them, I decided to just comment on their Instagram post or reply to their Story.

Why is it important to give gifts?

Now I will tell you about a time I received a gift. Last year, my brother gave me an iphone on my birthday. It is a smartphone designed by Apple. It's handy, convenient and has many functions. I have downloaded many apps and games to my iphone.

I often use it to surf the Internet, learn English, listen to music and read e-news. Google Maps is extremely useful when I (need to look for a location or) get lost. I also make free phone calls and send free text messages by using some applications.

I feel so excited and joyful. This gift is not only special but also very useful. People in Viet Nam give presents on many occasions such as on birthday parties, opening ceremonies, on women's day, teacher's day, when a baby is born and so on. People give presents to show love, express their feelings, say thank you, sorry or share happiness with friends and relatives.

Some common gifts in Vietnam are flowers, clothes, and books. Last week, I gave some flowers to my mother on her birthday. She was so thankful and surprised.

For example, some music makes you want to dance, some (piece of music) makes you feel energetic and excited (hoặc can boost your mood: có thể cải thiện tâm trạng của bạn) and some songs make you feel sad. I often listen to classical music when I have free time. I highly recommend people should listen to music after a stressful day.

I'll never forget it.

The last question is very interesting. I think there are several benefits of meeting new people. Firstly, we can have more friends. It helps us reduce stress in life. No, I think text messages will not replace phone calls in the future because of the following because: Firstly, making a call is faster and easier to deal with problems than sending a message. Secondly, it also avoids misleading words and is suitable for many ages. Besides, calling comes pre-built on mobile phones, is available without a WIFI connection, which makes calling a more accessible and convenient medium. However, all that changed when I was finally convinced by one of my cousins to accompany him in order to do some fishing practice with him. In fact, he even assured me that the fishes would eat my bait. So, I agreed and went to a nearby lake to catch some fish. By the way, before throwing my fishing wire into the water, my cousin did some tricks with attaching the on my fishing rod. Anyway, I started to wait, but I was growing a little impatient with the waiting as I could see no sign of fish near my fishing rod. Suddenly, I saw that my float was moving and informed my cousin. My cousin immediately asked me to pull the rod out of the water and I had caught my first fish! And when we finally left the lake, I had caught 3 fish! Needless to say, I felt so happy later about that outdoor activity. 3: Outdoor activities are crucial for children. The reason is that they can help children improve their health.
